ROYAL WOMEN COLONELS.
Regiments That are Commanded by Ladies of the Highest Court Rank.

(N. Y. Sun.)

There are several royal ladies in Europe who are Colonels, some of whom are not only proud of their titles, but honor their regiments by giving time and attention to their welfare and advancement.

The German Empress commands the "Queen's" Fusiliers, the Eighty-sixth Schleswig-Holsteiners, and she is not infrequently seen riding at the head of the regiment in battle dress.

Empress Frederick, the Kaiser's mother, has the Eightieth Infantry and the Hussar Regiment, "Kaserin" No. 2, as her own, and Queen Victoria, his grandmother, is privileged to ride at the head of the "Victoria" Regiment, the First Prussian Dragoon Guards.

Other women chieftains in the Emperor's army are Queen Marguerite of Italy, whose regiment belongs to the Hessian Chasseurs; the Empress Dowager of Russia, who is Colonel of the Second Regiment of Dragoons; the Hereditary Princesses of Saxony, Meiningen, who commands the Eleventh Grenadiers; the Princess Royal of Greece, the Emperor's sister, and Princess Louise Duchess of Connaught, who commands the Sixty-fourth Infantry, "Princess Frederic Charles of Prussia."

The Queen of Wurtemberg is Colonel of the Uhlan Regiment "Konig Wilhelm I.," the Princess Vera of Wurtemberg, who was a Russian Grand Duchess, the Uhlan "Konig Karl," the Grand Duchesse Victoria Melita of Russia, the Princess of Prussia, the Princess Charles of Prussia, the Twelfth Regiment of Dragoons; the Queen Regent of the Netherlands, the Twelfth Westphalian Infantry, and the Grand Duchess of Baden, the Fourth Regiment of the Grenadier Guards.

Empress Frederick shows herself a very active commander on the field of battle. She frequently visits the front, and at times she is seen in the trenches with her troops.

Another woman Colonel who considers herself bound, in more than name, to her regiment, is the Grand Duchess of Hesse. She is often noticed on the parade ground, when the regiment is at work, in uniform, consisting of a dark blue coat, red collar and cuffs edged with blue, and a heavy black skirt, a petticoat of red, and sword and belt and knotted epaulettes. At parades and reviews she heads the 11th Regiment in all the glory and pomp of full dress uniform.

At a recent Kaiser parade at Hamburg the Emperor sent his personal Adjutant to escort her to him and publicly congratulated her on the magnificent appearance of her command.

The Duchess of Connaught is known as one of the most unassuming and unpretentious women at the present time. She is often noticed on the parade ground, when the regiment is at work, in uniform, consisting of a dark blue coat, red collar and cuffs edged with blue, and a heavy black skirt, a petticoat of red, and sword and belt and knotted epaulettes. EIGHT ON $10 A WEEK.
Feeding a Family at a Cost of 18 Cents a Day For Each Person.

In The Ladies' Home Journal Mrs. S. T. Rorer tells how a family of eight persons can be fed—and well fed—at the aggregate cost of $10 a week. She presents a bill of fare for each meal, with suggestions for changing and varying them, and details how to prepare the main dishes that enter into her economical plan of supplying the family table. "To carry out the scheme," she says, "articles must be purchased economically and no waste permitted. A table which is supplied for a family of eight for $10 a week must of necessity be plain, but it may at the same time not lack for variety or wholesomeness. Sweetmeats and rich desserts must be counted only as occasional luxuries, and 'company' dishes must be omitted altogether. Meat, the most expensive food item, may be purchased in a much larger quantity than is needed for a single meal, and utilized French fashion. The poor and middle classes of this country must learn more about the food value of the legume, more about the proper preparation of food, and last, but not least, more about the proper combinations of food. Avoid the buying of steaks, roasts and chops each week. It is an expensive household indeed which has no repertory of cheaper dishes. A beef's head or a braised calf's liver makes an excellent and economical change. Broiled sheep's kidneys, with a little bacon, give a good breakfast at a cost of 10 cents. Smothered beef, which may be made from the tough end of the rump steak, is appetizing, and only costs half the price of an equal food value of tenderloin steak.

"The housekeeper should go to market early and buy only the best materials. They keep longer and go further than the inferior ones. Perishable food should be bought in small quantities two or three times a week. Groceries enough to last a month should be laid in. Canned goods and preserved sweets should be bought sparingly. Meat is always a most expensive article, and not a particle of it should be allowed to go to waste."

THE KAFFIR OFF DUTY.
South African Mine Laborers Lead a Motion Picketing on the Cape.

The report of a traveler fresh from the Cape gives a curious insight into one phase of labor on the Rand. It used to be the custom of the Kaffir, on receiving his salary—usually $5 per week—to tally forth and invest all his earnings in bottles of brandy. He would then return to his hut, squat down and drink it like beer until he succumbed. This went on regularly among the mining staffs of all the large companies until, in order to prevent a weekly cessation of labor, the companies adopted the method of enclosing all their native employees inside a compound, and shutting them in like prisoners until their time of service had elapsed.

Visitors to the compounds often take in a pound or so of the native coarse tobacco, for a handful of which the Kaffirs, under stress of their deprivation of tobacco as well as liquor, will gladly exchange their old native bracelets and knobkerries. The native method of smoking is peculiar. After the pipe is filled several long pulls are taken and the smoke swallowed. The bowl is then taken off, the stem is inserted in a bowl of water and the water is sucked through it and swallowed also. Then comes the tug of war. The man who can hold out longest without coughing is considered a hero. After a short time the smoker will convulsively cough for 15 or 20 minutes and one quite understand why the Kaffir is not allowed out to buy tobacco. In the case of the traveler who gives these details the mine manager asked him to cease bartering the vile stuff for native trinkets; otherwise the whole relay would be unfit to go down when he needed it.

The Kaffir usually returns home after six months or a year at the mines and is considered a rich man. He buys two or more wives and takes his ease while he does all the work.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

A Trade Secret.
The teacher had been explaining to the boys on two or three occasions during the week the sources of our food supply and various processes connected with the preparation of certain products. At the end of the week he held an elementary examination to see how much of the information his pupils had retained.

"Now, what is coffee prepared?"
White-faced, but did not answer.
"I am rather surprised at you," exclaimed the teacher. "I thought you would have remembered that, being the son of a grocer! How is it you do not know?"

"Please, sir, I do know," replied the boy hesitatingly.
"Then why don't you answer?" asked the teacher sharply. "Come, answer at once."

"I mustn't," cried the boy desperately. "It's a secret of the trade, my father says, and he will leather me if I tell!"
He was passed over.—Pearson's Weekly.

FAIRY SOAP.
Some "penny-wise" people practice a kind of economy that is not economical. They have a penny on soap and lose a dollar on clothes. Sooner or later they learn that cheap, common soap not only does not burn the thread with strong alkalis. Then they wish they had used

STATE TREASURER'S REPORT.

State Finances are not in Best of Condition.

Augusta, January 24.—State Treasurer F. M. Simpson made his annual report today as follows:
To His Excellency, Llewellyn Powers, Governor, and the Honorable Executive Council:
Gentlemen:—Pursuant to the requirements of the statutes, I have the honor to submit herewith my annual report, giving in detail the financial transactions of the state treasury for the fiscal year ending December 31, 1898.

TRUST DEPOSITS.
The Granite State Provident association of Manchester, N. H., went into the hands of a receiver on May 1, 1898, and all the securities then on deposit in this office, under chapter 74, Public Laws 1891, have remained intact until September 23, of the past year, when the following described securities were delivered, on order of the Supreme Judicial court to Hon. H. R. Graves, receiver in Maine, of the Granite State Provident association:

Two Maine Central Railroad and European and North American Express Company certificates of deposit in the sum of $10,000 each, $10,000.00.
Two certificates of deposit in the sum of $2,455.30 each, $4,910.60.
Two certificates of deposit in the sum of $1,742.75 each, $3,485.50.

Making the total amount drawn, $37,196.05. The balance remaining on deposit in this office to the credit of said association is $36,830.00.

BONDED DEBT.
During the past year $50,000 were paid toward the liquidation of the bonded debt of the state and a like amount was paid in the year 1897.

There was also paid during the past year, as interest on the bonded debt, the sum of $73,000, and for the year 1897, $73,000.

The aggregate sum, therefore, paid during the year 1898, as interest on the bonded debt, was $73,000. The bonded indebtedness of the state at the present time is $3,453,000.

TEMPORARY LOAN.
On January 1, 1898, a temporary loan of $200,000 was outstanding against the state, of which amount $100,000 became payable April 1, 1898, and the balance $100,000 was paid on that date.

The receipts not being sufficient to meet the current expenses and the loan falling due April 1, 1898, it became necessary to procure a further temporary loan, and therefore one of $100,000, for three months, at a rate of interest of four per cent, was procured, and was negotiated April 1, 1898, and the funds were used to meet the payment of the $100,000 falling due on that date.

The loan of $100,000 negotiated April 1, 1898, on three months and which became due July 1, 1898, was paid at maturity.

The loan of $200,000 negotiated April 1, 1898, on three months and which became due July 1, 1898, was paid at maturity.
